

Boarding Tutor

We currently have a position for a Boarding Tutor at Bishopstrow College.

We are looking for well-rounded and enthusiastic individuals, who can offer a range of skills in areas such as sports and activities (including art, drama etc.). The position is orientated to the strengths and interests of candidates wherever possible and designed to help to foster their career progression. The role offers both a rich insight into life at a boarding school, as well as opportunities to develop and learn core pastoral skills and skills in planning and delivering sports and activity sessions.

The role would suit those considering a future career in education, or working with children, or candidates with previous experience of teaching and/or caring for children. The role offers variety and candidates should be flexible and able to deal with changes in circumstances, and to take initiative. Candidates should genuinely enjoy working with children, be energetic, have excellent communication skills and be able to work as part of a team.

Opportunities exist for those wishing to prepare for PGCE entry to gain experience assisting in the classroom under the direction of a teacher. Previous post holders have progressed to be a Houseparent within the College, or progressed to be Deputy Head of Boarding, or to study PGCEs, and taken up careers in the sports industry.

Accommodation and all meals are provided during term time. Ideally the candidate should hold a full UK driving licence.

Hours

5 days and 2 consecutive days off per week.

Salary

Salary of £16.5k for a 4-term academic year (44 weeks), including an End of Year Loyalty Payment.
